Experience Someone or something has been taking photos of me, professionally. (self.Paranormal)

submitted 2 months ago by xXTASERFACExx

This started during the summer, this summer, when I was at my grandma's house. I woke up too early but I didn't want to get back to sleep so I just closed the eyes. I heard a click and then a flash filled the room, I quickly turned on the lights and no one was there, I thought to myself I was falling asleep and it was probably a dream. I turn off the lights, close the eyes and immediately after I close the eyes the same thing happens, this time two in a row. Again, I turn on the lights and no one was there.

Because it was too early my grandma and my grandpa were sleeping and no one in my family owns a expensive photographic camera (maybe it was just a regular camera) let alone be in the house with us.

Well, the same thing happened here, in my bedroom, in my house, a few minutes ago but this time it was just the flash, like if someone took a picture of me with a phone. And no, my mom went to work (Im still 17) and my brother was sleeping meaning there's only 2 phones left in the house, my brother was sleeping so it wasn't him, and my phone was in the same place where I left it.

Someone here also experienced stuff like this?

Ok but was it like a click ? Just one click. Cuz some cameras have like a shutter that really sounds like a couple swooshes and clicks. I'm curious if what you heard was just like a cartoonish camera click or more an actual camera camera.

unrelated to what everyone else is saying, assuming that what you say is what actually happened, have you been on any sketchy, new, or so to say eerie websites lately?

The websites? It's pretty easy for people to get into your computer(if they wanted and had a reason) if you dont have a vpn. Sometime people can monitor your activity on those sketchy cites because of the lack of safety precautions on those cites. And I haven't done a lot of research about it I've only really heard stories of how easily it is to get on human traffickers radars if your browsing like that and you just so happen to be a point of interest. There's one story that really stuck out to me that really happened, I cant recall the name of it right now but ill make an edit if I can think of it later.

Look up hypnopompic and/or hypnagogic hallucinations.

It is extremely unlikely that this is the case, and seems to be something your mind is fabricating. Not to say you aren't experiencing this, i believe you are telling the truth, but i also believe you should speak to a doctor or head shrink.

As the other guy said, I believe the one this morning was my nerve, but those flashes back there had "sound", I, clearly heard a click . And I don't have any other mental shit because it never happened again your brain floats in "cerebrospinal fluid". the pressure of this fluid increases when you're sleeping. Sometimes it will press on your optic nerve causing it to probably "flash" randomly. this increases if u have higher blood pressure...

Look into it, I read it on another experience about the same thing. Seems unlikely it's paranormal but who knows. That's still a creepy thought Edit- it's called "exploding head syndrome" seriously... haha. But don't self diagnose, deff see a doctor if you have consistent symptoms. There's probably a medication you can take, hope this helped!!

Question

I keep feeling pressure on my bed as if something small is walking on it. Has anyone experienced a ghost cat or could it be a spirit manifesting as something small?
