About a couple months ago, one night I saw a pair of glowing red eyes from under my tv. I didn't really think anything of it because it wasn't scaring me (in fact I chose to have a staring contest with it and then go to bed) but last night I was texting my friends and I sitting up on my bed and I felt like I was being watched again. I look into my closet and 3 glowing red eyes were looking at me. This time it did unsettle me quite a bit but I turned on the lights so see if maybe something was reflecting off of it, it wasn't. I chose to close my closet instead and go to bed. Was that the best thing to do in that course of action? I've told my parents about these things and they don't really believe me. I'm 17 just to add some more information.

I would definitely pray to God about it. My Mom had a friend who stayed at our house for a few days when I was your age. She was abused by a Satanic cult as a kid back in the 60's. The nights she was there, I could hear scratching at the both of my windows. It was pretty windy so I assumed it was a bush next to my window. Went out one morning to check it out and the bush had been trimmed back to the point it couldn't have rubbed against the screens and the screens were secure in place. After she left the scratching at night stopped. She described the abuse to me and what it manifested in her life as she grew up. There may be a common link to your story in your age. We have a limit to how much we can experience of the spiritual realm. Perhaps we oscillate in and out of being able to experience these things. The Satanic Cult ritualistically abused her at age 10 and 11. This is arguably the most spiritually open we are during our lives so that was the reason they use children. So if I had to guess 16-17 would be our next open time. Then the next one would be somewhere in mid 20's to early 30's. So the good news would be it will pass.

All you have to do is use the name of Jesus Christ and they'll back down.. I literally do this for all paranormal problems

Tell it to bugger off. It's not frightening.
