Experience First story let's call it my demons idk

(self.Paranormal)

So I've got two stories for now. I have many more stories. Been living with ghosts since I was 8. So no problem for me to tell more situations. But onto the stories. These are very short sorry in advance. Don't feel like typing out the longer versions. Also I'm on mobile and English is not my first language.

Which I can call I guess "school no thank you". So I've always had problems at school by keeping my concentration. Since I was little. So yes it's always been stuck with me. This story happened about almost a year ago. I was at the time in a McDonald's. We had one of those near our school and it was great. Haha no I'm not that fat. Just once or twice every year. But this time I decided to go. After having a little bite I was almost late for the next lesson and quickly made my way back with 0 problems. When i entered the school something felt off but since I've always lived with ghosts it did not feel very different. The school halls were empty cause everyone was already in their class rooms. So I decided to jog a little. When I made it up the stairs I went up another set of stairs. Afterwards went left and entered the hall to many more class rooms.

Also let me tell you I'm a nurse student and this was where they had the beds and materials and such. So back to the story.

I kept walking and saw suddenly come around the corner at the other side of the hall with his head down. We both walked and when we came closer to each other he bumped very hard into me and made me fall to the ground. I then stood up a bit scared and angry when the other person was just gone. I ignored it and went to class. That lesson was just a lesson nothing to talk about.

After that lesson we still had one more to go. So up we went to the next classroom. In that room I started to feel uneasy. Feeling sick and stomachachie. It felt like I was gonna go out any second. So I just kept my head down looking at the table.

When the class was dismissed and everyone was gone except for the one classmate infront of me and the teacher. That one student asked me if I was alright and I slowly lifted my head and said "yes yes everything's...". And then I came to the realisation that there was something else in that room. It looked like a demon of some sorts. Purple skin with horns and weird hand and feet. I think it was almost 2 meters tall. When I stood up I just ran out of the class room. It probably looked very weird to them. But I could not tell them what I saw. I felt sick. Idk what it wanted but it scared the shit out of me. If someone else in here maybe knows more about it or has a clue what it was doing there. Please do tell me.

One other thing before I continue with the second story I've been told by my doctors and therapist friend family etc. A few months ago that it seems I have a sixth sense. To able to see the world between living and dead. I don't call it a super power I call it a curse.

2nd story

Idk if I should post it as a second one but whatever. So I call this little scary story of mine "angel of death?".

So probably haven't told you yet. I'm an atheist just to let you know. I have many friends of different culture religion and colour. Everyone is welcome to my friend group.

I think angel of death is a religious thing but idk you can probs correct me. I have had a few encounters with this woman. It's scary it is not fun but I think she is one of the most friendly ghosts I've ever seen.

Let me tell you first what she looks like and maybe you can tell me Jep that is totally her or be like nope that is just another weirdo ghost. So she had a pale white skin, holes for eyes, a black Rob that was cut off a bit at the floor and by her elbows. She has very very long black hair. And she hovered above the ground. She was also very tall maybe 3 meters idk. She did not smell and give off only little whisper sounds. Like she was talking in herself.

So the very first encounter with her was maybe 10 years ago.

At the time I did parkour with a friend of mine. It was just the two of us next to a very high building where many people lived. All older people. I was never that great parkour so I always tried my best but that friend actually walked up to walls and grabbed the wall and threw himself over it. I still sometimes can not believe it. The walls were like a few meters high. At a certain moment we heard sounds and decided to dismiss ourselves and saw a husband and wife leave the building crying. We decided to check out the situation so we just asked what was up. They told us that the woman's mother was not feeling that great. And thus decided to call for an ambulance. That friend of mine heard the ambulance and saw they did not know how to get here. So he grabbed his bike and went to ambulance and showed them the way. Truly a hero I think haha. Afterwards we still stood there but a bit more farther out and looking at the scene. The woman was carried with a brancardier into the ambulance and that is when I saw a third figure. She looked exactly how I told you. But at that time I did not think any of it.

So i continued my life. Now back to the future. I believe it was august 2020. I stopped school had a burnout cause I cared too much about others and totally forget about myself. Oops. It was at night. Yes the usual story you go to the bathroom and there we go welp now a little different I guess maybe idk.

It was very late it was dark outside and silent in the house. I decided to go to the bathroom right before I went to bed.

Quick gotta tell you my sister is 4 years older than me and lives already in a house somewhere but she came over that day and slept here this night. We have a great relationship we never ever had a fight or anything.

So I opened my bedroom door and saw that her door was open and found that very weird. Cause I knew how she hated that and went to her bedroom door. When I looked in the room I saw a figure hanging over her and I quickly made my way into the toilet room. I closed the door and locked it and told myself by talking " it isn't real". Over and over and over. I emptied my bladder and emptied my head and decided to go back to bed. When I opened the door the figure had closed my sisters door and now stood in my doorway looking at me. I did not know what to do and took two steps back to my sisters door and saw that the figure went past me upstairs to my parents their room. I quickly went in my room and closed the door. I put on a light and waited. I heard it moving upstairs and slowly close the door again. Then I heard it go downstairs and moving in the kitchen and the garage. And then I heard it open the front door and leave. I then opened my door and went downstairs to look. There was nothing there it was gone whatever I saw. It just left. Is this that angel or was it a weirdo ghost? Idk but it was almost as if it was looking for something.

Since then this has been my most friendly ghost. Cause I've always had ghost who wanted to hurt me or tell me why they died and then give me heavy headaches.

It always makes very tired to talk about this stuff so I'm gonna stop now. Thanks for reading. Hope you have a great day and life.

Every single person that you pass at the street they have as varried stories and exiting of a life as you do so treat them that way.

Soooo let's take a little break If you wanna use my name and story for posts and videos pls let me know then I will probs watch them or read them myself too. Please answer any questions thank you. Tell your own stories. I would love to read them.

You may not believe my stories are true. You just tell that yourself thank you I do not need to know that you think it's fake thank you. For me it's something that plays a big part in my life.

Also one more tip from me if you meet a ghost do not make any eye contact if you do you make them happy and they can then break you. Make you hate a lot in life and even hate yourself.

Bye bye.

Xx Danique

That's not the angel of death (Santa Muerte). The height makes me think it is some kind of psychopomp, though, and all of the good psychopomps are angels.
