Dream Strange dream about "the other side" (self.Paranormal)

submitted 2 months ago by Scared_Iceberg

Hey everyone just wanted to share a strange dream I had last night that I can't quite make heads or tails of.

So I quick background that pertains to this dream, my dad passed away when I was 13 years old and when I was struggling with it back then he appeared to me in a dream keeping this looming darkness at bay and telling me I would be alright. I later told someone about that dream and they told me that sometimes when a loved one dies they can come to you in dreams, didn't believe or disbelieve really but it felt like a bit of a comfort at the time.

Now throughout the years I've had a dream here or there about my dad and I always found a little comfort thinking "hmm maybe it is him".

Fast forward about 16 years to my dream last night. So in the dream I was in this boggy, swampy looking area. It was dark but still lit enough that I could see a road. I was on the road and I knew my destination was the grave of an ancestor (maybe a great grandfather?) and all of a sudden my dad shows up in a suburban.

I hop in and we are talking when he almost drives it into a soft shoulder or ditch which my dad wouldn't do while driving because he drove professionally in his life, we continue down the road and get to a graveyard where I start asking him questions that he can't answer or is answering wrong, like stuff he would know and I just get a bad feeling. I look at him and say "you're not my dad" to which he doesn't get upset but insists that he is and almost seems amused.

I keep looking for a grave and insisting he isn't my father and while he keeps laughing and saying of course he is this horse appears and starts bucking and rearing up and causing a stir until my "dad" is gone.

The next thing I know I'm talking to a woman in a place that was just nothing, like a void of just nothingness but her and I. She says something like "when you let your dad in as a kid you broke open a grate (and in my dream I envisioned like a giant sewer grate) which allows all manner of spirits to come and visit as they please and masquerade as your dad". She didn't seem at all concerned or like it was a bad thing though? At this point I woke up.

So the details are obviously a bit fuzzy but I can't stop thinking about it this morning and figured I'd check and see what ya'll thought. Too many video games maybe? Just a weird dream?

Looking forward to hearing everyone's thoughts cause it's got me all over that map.

Thanks!

I lost my Dad in 2014, lost my Mom in 2019. I'm an only child and was exceptionally close to them throughout my life.

I realize now I never truly grieved my Dad because my sole focus was looking after my Mom after his passing. So it was devastating to put it mildly when my Mom passed.

In some ways, I'm still grieving every day and feel like I always will for the rest of my days. I have had many dreams in the last year and half with both my parents in the dream. Each time has been a comforting feeling and we are always glad to see each other in these dreams. And more than once when it seems to be time for us to part I wake up from these dreams.

I take that as it's not my time yet but they wanted to visit with me. Personally, I believe that one might not have been your Dad especially since a bad vibe came over you in the dream and his normal characteristics were off but just a guess to be honest.

There are studies that claims sometime we remotely exit our reality and travel other dimension or world. Like traveling between the veil of two world, our world and the spirit world aka afterlife. And in the spirit world, the pass and future is almost like one, so picking up a "prescient dream" makes alot of sense. The higher the dimension the more everything becomes one; the law of one. So your dream could be an actual advice with an actual person in the other side.

Yep. Kinda like a chat room that takes place in our brains, spirits can probably join in and have a chat. I believe our brain (like a computer that connects to the internet) it can connect to the ether/spirit world etc at the right times when dreaming. There's the whole field of quantum mechanics and other dimensions that is barely known about in science maybe the brain does something with it. Now if it was the spirit actually leaving the body/brain that's an out of body experience or NDE if one survives it.
