HauntingA ghost can and my cat missing

(self.Paranormal)

submitted 2 months ago by Catsaregreat25

So since moving here, I'd often see a cat wandering around for a split second then vanishing. I eventually ended up with two cats but there were several times they'd be outside and I'd see a cat coming from the around the corner of the living room and then rubbing against the couch. I've never felt threatened by it or even scared, until it hits me like "There is no cats in the house". Last night my cats have been gone all day which is unusual because they stay on the porch or in the backyard and often come in for lunch or snuggles. It was around midnight, we heard meows but couldn't place where they were coming from. We then realized they were under the house. My boyfriend then went to check under the house for them. I stayed in and sat on the couch because it was freezing outside. I looked over and saw very clearly, a cat sitting and staring at me and then it vanished. My boyfriend then threw our cat Dublin in the house. And told me he couldn't find Oreo but Dublin had been acting weird and was freaked out. He also then told me there's a deceased cat under the house and the cat had been there for awhile it looks like. It was mostly decomposed but still had fur is what he told me. It's been about 36 hours and Oreo still hasn't been seen.
