Experience The ghost of my Great-Grandfather...(self.Paranormal)
submitted 2 months ago by BrittB22

I'll start out with a backstory of my Great-Grandfather and my Great-Grandmother. In my Great-Grandmother's 20's she was diagnosed with cancer. I'm pretty sure it was breast cancer, but I was told of her passing when I was pretty young (9 years old) so I can't remember entirely. She had a relatively quick death and my Great-Grandfather was so distraught by her passing and missed her so much that he made the rash decision to hang himself in one of the upstairs bedrooms. Before this happened he had asked my Grandma to "take good care of her sisters". My Grandma found her Dad after this happened. She doesn't like to talk about either of her parent's passings because it hurts her so much and it brings back horrible memories for her. My Grandma and 3 Aunt's moved out shortly after the incident and had surprisingly moved into a house right across the street that had been for sale. Keep in mind that my Great-Grandfather built the house that the incidents happened in so this will have relevance soon. I knew by the way my Grandma talked about what happened that she had seen some "things" in that house, but she refused to tell me or talk about it.

As my Aunt's got older and started living their own lives, one of my Aunt's decided to move back into my Great-Grandfather's old house. My Grandma was appalled by this decision, but she didn't ask questions. Fast forward to when I was 5 years old. I lived with my Grandma and we always had family over, especially my 7 year old cousin who I became extremely close to. This was my Aunt's Granddaughter and she too, lived with her Grandma. We had play-dates and sleepovers all the time. When I would go over to my Aunt's house I always had an extremely weird feeling upon entering and it felt dark and heavy throughout the house, especially upstairs. No one ever talked about this and I could tell my family members felt the same.

One night after falling asleep pretty quickly I had woken up in the middle of the night randomly. I can't remember exactly what time, but my cousin was already awake which I thought was odd. As I asked "what's wrong?" she covered my mouth and put her finger up to her mouth telling me to be quiet. I could tell by the fear in her eyes that something was wrong. As I looked over by the patio doors (there was a small patio attached to the bedroom), there was a black figure pacing back and forth. It was illuminated by the alleyway lights through the window so I could see the entire entity. When I looked at it, it had the stature and physique of my Great-Grandfather and it abruptly stopped in it's tracks. It's head turned to look at me and I instantly had feelings of fearfulness and sorrow. I pulled the covers over our heads and we held each other. We could still hear the figure walking back and forth because of the floorboards creaking. After some time we drifted off to sleep. As we awoke in the morning we never talked about it and we acted as if nothing ever happened.

Fast forward to me being 16 years old. I went over to my Aunt's house to get ready with my cousin for a family wedding. We were both getting ready in the bathroom downstairs and both of us got this extremely unsettling feeling. I decided to wander into the kitchen and to my surprise the fuse box was wide open. This specific fuse box you had to PRY open with a tool to even get it to open. My entire family had issues with the damn thing opening. I ran to my cousin and said "the fuse box is wide open, no one else is here but us". She dropped what she was doing grabbed my arm and we both ran out of the house across the street to my Grandma's. We told her what had happened and she said "I'm glad you guys got out of there".

Weird things have always happened in that house. The blinds or curtains could be seen moving from my Grandma's house when no one was home. You could always hear footsteps upstairs when no one was up there. When going into different rooms of the house there would be cold spots and uneasy feelings as if you were being watched. Items would mysteriously disappear and reappear in random places throughout the house.

My Uncle died 10 years ago from cancer in that same exact house and I refuse to step foot back in there. My Aunt gets lonely and has offered for me to have sleepovers with her, but I just can't bring myself to do it. I truly believe that my Great-Grandfather and Uncle are stuck in that house and in my opinion, are the "caretakers" of the house itself.

I'm sorry if this was extremely long, I added a TLDR at the bottom.

TLDR: I experienced my Great-Grandfather's ghost as a child and I believe he is the "caretaker" of my Aunt's house.
